PROCESS AND TECHNOLOGY IMPROVEMENTS

Scranton, Pa. - September 28, 2009 - Diversified Information Technologies announced today through its President and CEO, Scott Byers, that it has once again enhanced its ability to deliver services to clients as a result of process improvements in operations as well as investments in technology. "Diversified is constantly putting "Client First" which is the first of our core values and we continuously look for ways to improve the way we process our clients' critical information in the most efficient and cost-effective manner", Byers said.

According to Leo Malsky, Vice-President of Operations, these improvements in both process and technology resulted in the elimination of thirteen positions, some of which were part-time. Malsky explained, "These improvements provide many benefits for our clients and for Diversified. At the same time, we are also cognizant of the fact that this change impacts the lives of people whose positions were eliminated and Diversified does not take these matters lightly. We have taken steps to ensure that our departing employees have the best possible transition to new opportunities."

"It is my responsibility to make sure that Diversified never becomes complacent. We continuously seek better and more efficient ways to meet and exceed our clients' expectations. The "Client is First" in all of Diversified's decisions and actions. We are continuously looking for ways to leverage our infrastructure and talent. Because we have 15 locations nationwide and the technology that allows us to do the work practically anywhere in the country, we are constantly trying to find the most optimal locations to do our work in a manner that benefits our clients. This is a prime example of how we live our values and deliver on our promises to our clients", Byers concluded.
